

Contents

Series editor foreword	v
Prefaces	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
Dedication	xi
1. Foundations of medical ethics and law	1
What is 'medical ethics' and why is it important?	1
The core curriculum in medical ethics and law	1
Ethical arguments	2
Ethical theories	3
The four principles	6
Empirical bioethics	7
Why is all this important in medicine?	7
An introduction to medical law	8
2. Professionalism and medical ethics	13
Professionalism, oaths and declarations	13
Duties for medical students	14
Confidentiality	17
Conscience and personal beliefs	21
Disclosure of mistakes and misconduct	22
Professional boundaries	23
A professional approach to research ethics	26
3. The doctor, the patient and society	33
Consent	33
Competence	33
Some legal cases illustrating the broad nature and purpose of treatment	34
Voluntariness	34
Sufficient information	34
The mental capacity act 2005 (MCA 2005)	35
Children	36
Legal and ethical aspects of medical care of older people	41
Mental health and mental illness	43
4. Ethics and law at the beginning and end of life	47
Contraception	47
Sterilization	47
The human embryo	48
Abortion	50
Assisted reproduction	52
Genetic counselling and screening	56
Cloning	57
The end of life	58
Death: when does 'death' occur	65
Organ transplantation	65
5. Healthcare commissioning and resource allocation	71
Commissioning and resource allocation	71
Why is resource allocation necessary?	73
6. Introduction to sociology and disease	79
Why is sociology important to medical students?	79
Social causes of disease	79
Social structures and health	81
Social and cultural change	82
Iatrogenesis: does health care create disease?	83
7. Experience of health and illness	85
Illness behaviour and the sick role	85
The doctor-patient relationship	92
Hospitals and patients	98
Chronic disease	99
Death and bereavement	101
8. Organization of healthcare provision in the UK	107
Before the NHS	107
National health insurance	107
The birth of the NHS	107
Other systems for organizing and funding health care	111
Health professions	111

The holistic model	112	National strategies for health improvement	145
Care in the community	112	Screening	146
Government departments	113	Communicable diseases	149
9. Inequalities in health and healthcare provision	115	Immunization	150
(co-author Elizabeth Morrow)		Management of disease outbreaks	150
Impact of social class	115	11. Clinical governance	153
Gender differences	123	What is clinical governance?	153
Ethnic minorities	127	Evidence-based medicine (clinical effectiveness)	154
The ageing population	130	What is clinical audit?	155
10. Epidemiology and public health	135	Risk management	162
Introduction	135	The NHS complaints procedure	163
Types of epidemiological research	135	Errors and significant event audit	163
Measures of health and treatment outcomes	137	Self-assessment	167
Measures of disease occurrence	138	Single best answer questions (SBAs)	169
Causal association	139	Extended-matching questions (EMQs)	175
Measures of association between exposure and disease	140	Short-answer questions (SAQs)	179
The changing pattern of disease	141	Essay questions	181
Measuring the health of a nation	142	SBA answers	183
Death certification	144	EMQ answers	185
Prevention	144	Objective structured clinical examination questions (OSCEs)	187
Health promotion	145	Index	189